

WINDSOR HOTEL ROBBERIES.

A Shrewd Thief Who Has Been Unusually Successful.

Mrs. Burnet and Her Daughter the Latest Victims.

The news of a clever hotel robbery leaked out this morning, notwithstanding the efforts of Proprietor Wetherbee, of the Windsor Hotel, to keep the matter quiet.

It was the work of a particularly shrewd sneak-thief, and took place on Friday evening while dinner was in progress.

The victims of the daring robbery are Mrs. William H. Burnet and daughter, of 90 Forty-seventh street, Hyde Park, N.Y.

The ladies are $1,500 poorer than when they arrived at the aristocratic hostelry at Fifth avenue and Forty-seventh street March 30.

Mrs. Burnet and her daughter occupy suite 201 on the Forty-sixth street side of the house. Friday evening the ladies went down to dinner at about 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Burnet is sure she locked the door of their suite. At any rate she carried the key when she left.

On returning to their apartments the ladies were surprised to find the rooms in a state of disorder, the bureau-drawers pulled open, and the safe open, the amount of $1,500 missing. That is the figure at which Mr. Wetherbee places the loss, but some of the guests who are more talkative than the hotel manager say that $5,000 would be nearer the amount stolen.

The jewelry consisted, according to proprietors, of several diamond rings, a diamond wrist-pin and a purse containing a sum of money.

As soon as the robbery was discovered Miss Burnet telephoned to the police and told Capt. O'Farrell about it.

The ladies were cautioned not to talk about their loss, and a messenger was dispatched to Capt. O'Farrell, who, in turn, sent a detective from the Central Police office on hand within an hour and have worked on the case ever since, but not the slightest clue has been obtained.

There are various stories to the number in which the thief gained access to the rooms.

One is that a man with a couple of boxes, such as draymen use, came and gave in, as to 90 Forty-sixth street entrance five minutes after the Burnets had gone to dinner, and said that he would like to take the boxes to the laundry room.

The story is that the door was said to have pried the man to the right door and left him there to his own devices.

This story, however, is denied by the hotel people, who say that this was evidently an expert and used skeleton keys on the door lock.

The jewels and money were left on the human, so that one who got into the room would see them at once.

Neither Mrs. Burnet nor her daughter would see reporters today. They preferred to remain in the suite of the hotel in the hands of the police.

Cashier Drake said that the ladies' reluctance was due to their not wishing the news to reach Mr. Burnet.

It was learned this morning that this is only one of a series of mysterious robberies which have occurred at the Windsor during the last few weeks.

While the articles have not been of great worth separately, the total results are considerable, and the thief confounds himself to jewelry and money.

Detectives Murphy and Donegan, of Capt. Reilly's precinct, are working on the case.

It was learned that they are shadowing a mysterious individual who frequents the reading-room of the hotel every evening and who seems to have no particular business there.

Sommers Did Not Fail.

Henry Sommers writes to say that the publicized statement that he failed in business at 526 Wythe avenue, Brooklyn, the scene of the Krocque murder, was a mistake. He sold the place and was not a bankrupt.

TYPHUS SUSPECTS CAUGHT.

Eighteen Possible Victims Wandered About the Streets.

All of Them Arrested and Taken to the Reception Hospital.

The eighteen typhus fever suspects who enjoyed the freedom of the city yesterday were all gathered in by the police by 1 o'clock this morning, and are now in the Reception Hospital. The men were lodgers Saturday night along with Thomas Richards, twenty-one years old, in the male lodgers room in the West Sixty-eighth street police station, and at 6 o'clock yesterday morning they were turned out and spent the day in various parts of the city.

The whereabouts became a matter of great concern to the health authorities yesterday afternoon, when it was found that Richards was picked up on the street and taken to Bellevue Hospital suffering from typhus.

Sup. Byrnes issued orders to the police to arrest anyone of the eighteen men applying to the various police stations, and yesterday morning the health authorities received word that fifteen of the exposed batch of lodgers had returned to the West Sixty-eighth street police station last night. There were no under-arrests, and transferred to the Reception hospital.

Two others were found in the East Eighty-eighth street police station three years ago walked into the East Sixty-eighth street shortly before 1 o'clock this morning.

Upon inquiry it was disclosed that the fact of their having stayed themselves at the hotel was known yesterday and had wandered around town.

The ladies were cautioned not to talk about their loss, and a messenger was dispatched to Capt. O'Farrell, who, in turn, sent a detective from the Central Police office on hand within an hour and have worked on the case ever since, but not the slightest clue has been obtained.

There are various stories to the number in which the thief gained access to the rooms.

One is that a man with a couple of boxes, such as draymen use, came and gave in, as to 90 Forty-sixth street entrance five minutes after the Burnets had gone to dinner, and said that he would like to take the boxes to the laundry room.

The story is that the door was said to have pried the man to the right door and left him there to his own devices.

This story, however, is denied by the hotel people, who say that this was evidently an expert and used skeleton keys on the door lock.

The jewels and money were left on the human, so that one who got into the room would see them at once.

Neither Mrs. Burnet nor her daughter would see reporters today. They preferred to remain in the suite of the hotel in the hands of the police.

Cashier Drake said that the ladies' reluctance was due to their not wishing the news to reach Mr. Burnet.

It was learned this morning that this is only one of a series of mysterious robberies which have occurred at the Windsor during the last few weeks.

While the articles have not been of great worth separately, the total results are considerable, and the thief confounds himself to jewelry and money.

Detectives Murphy and Donegan, of Capt. Reilly's precinct, are working on the case.

It was learned that they are shadowing a mysterious individual who frequents the reading-room of the hotel every evening and who seems to have no particular business there.

Sommers Did Not Fail.

Henry Sommers writes to say that the publicized statement that he failed in business at 526 Wythe avenue, Brooklyn, the scene of the Krocque murder, was a mistake. He sold the place and was not a bankrupt.

CLEARED UP A MYSTERY.

Charles Reuter Confessed the Shootings of Zimmerman.

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 10.—In the confession of Charles Reuter, a young German, who died Saturday morning, it was revealed that he was the mysterious shooting and death of Joseph Zimmerman, of 687 Springfield avenue, in July last, but that he did not kill his mother, Mrs. Caroline Werner, that while practising at a target he accidentally shot and killed Zimmerman.

The dead man left all his money, $1,200, to William H. Burnet, a Valentine Islander, who with him and Zimmerman was still present at the time of the accident.

Marquis De Pink Dot Rio Artists.

The Marquis de Pink Dot Rio, a Belgian, whom nothing seems to have happened between the Marquis and the Rio, with his wife and son, seven Chinese musicians and actors, bound for Europe, started on Friday night.

They were under arrest, and transferred to the Reception hospital.

Two others were found in the East Eighty-eighth street police station, who had walked into the East Sixty-eighth street shortly before 1 o'clock this morning.

Upon inquiry it was disclosed that the fact of their having stayed themselves at the hotel was known yesterday and had wandered around town.

The ladies were cautioned not to talk about their loss, and a messenger was dispatched to Capt. O'Farrell, who, in turn, sent a detective from the Central Police office on hand within an hour and have worked on the case ever since, but not the slightest clue has been obtained.

There are various stories to the number in which the thief gained access to the rooms.

One is that a man with a couple of boxes, such as draymen use, came and gave in, as to 90 Forty-sixth street entrance five minutes after the Burnets had gone to dinner, and said that he would like to take the boxes to the laundry room.

The story is that the door was said to have pried the man to the right door and left him there to his own devices.

This story, however, is denied by the hotel people, who say that this was evidently an expert and used skeleton keys on the door lock.

The jewels and money were left on the human, so that one who got into the room would see them at once.

Neither Mrs. Burnet nor her daughter would see reporters today. They preferred to remain in the suite of the hotel in the hands of the police.

Cashier Drake said that the ladies' reluctance was due to their not wishing the news to reach Mr. Burnet.

It was learned this morning that this is only one of a series of mysterious robberies which have occurred at the Windsor during the last few weeks.

While the articles have not been of great worth separately, the total results are considerable, and the thief confounds himself to jewelry and money.

Detectives Murphy and Donegan, of Capt. Reilly's precinct, are working on the case.

It was learned that they are shadowing a mysterious individual who frequents the reading-room of the hotel every evening and who seems to have no particular business there.

Sommers Did Not Fail.

Henry Sommers writes to say that the publicized statement that he failed in business at 526 Wythe avenue, Brooklyn, the scene of the Krocque murder, was a mistake. He sold the place and was not a bankrupt.

TALK OF FIELD AND RING.

Handicapper Robertson's Error Rectified in Time.

The Smith-Williams Bout Promises to Be Exciting.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman. Gray says he had given a lead in the wheelchair race, but would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the starting line. "The Living World" was the only paper to call attention to the dissatisfaction that was created by handicapper Robertson's work, and it is interesting to note that the comments brought about a result greatly desired by the gentleman.

It was a fair acknowledgment on Billy Robertson's part that the comments made in the seventh Regimental games, printed in this evening, last week, were entirely correct in that he predicted that in the wheelchair race, that would put him at the